Automated External Defibrillator (AED), Technician Course

In line with the Governments initiative AEDs are becoming more widely available, particularly in places where people gather, such as shopping centres, railway stations, airports and large workplaces.

The aim of this course is to train delegates in the use of automated external defibrillators.

The programme covers the theoretical input on heart rhythms and the effects of defibrillation, and allows for practice across a range of scenarios.

Part of this course will also cover CPR training for those students who have no prior knowledge of the subject.

First Aid Kit

Assessment

The automated external defibrillator certificate will be awarded to successful candidates, and is valid for six months, with reassessment required to gain further certificates
