Equal Opportunities

People who live in a care home have not given up any of their rights as individuals.

The aim of this course is to encourage care staff to examine the causes of discrimination and in-equality and to enable them to foster and promote their clients' equality, diversity and rights.

Sensitive care involves working with each client to meet their individual needs rather than imposing a regime upon them.

Course Content

- Clients Rights
- Human Rights Act 1998
- Legislation, policies & charters
- Discrimination & in-equality
- Data Protection
- Confidentiality
- Case studies & group activities
- Good practise

Course Structure

The course contains group exercises where delegates can develop strategies for recognising and dealing with in-equality in various forms.

Numbers on the course are limited to a maximum of 20 candidates to allow for the group exercises and discussions.

Course handouts are provided and the attendance certificates detail the course content for NVQ Health & Social Care Level 2 & 3.
