

Legal Notice

The information and instruction in this course is designed to make carers aware of the risks involved in the manual handling of clients, and offer some solutions to reduce those risks arising from such manual handling operations.

In designing this course, the authors have assumed that the individuals who will undertake the physical exercises, handling techniques, and other pursuits within this course are fit to do so. The information and advice given throughout this course is the best available at the point of publication. However, all manual handling operations carry an element of risk. Therefore, Ashtree Management Services Ltd can carry no responsibility whatsoever for injuries or mishaps howsoever caused either resulting from the course, or arising from decisions made following the course.
